

CISI Private Client Investment Advice and Management Diploma (PCIAM)

The level 6 PCIAM qualification is an FCA recognised paper which is aimed at existing advisers to increase their knowledge and technical expertise. With over 200 recommended study hours and a written narrative examination, tutor support can make a real difference to your understanding and interpretation of the broad syllabus. FSTP have developed a classroom study programme which meets the RDR requirements and supports individual learning.

We know how important it is to students to pass exams first time. For firms who fund studies it's imperative that trainees complete their qualifications and move into supervised roles, starting to show a return on investment. For individuals it's a deepening of understanding and the ability to provide a better service to future clients.

For many this will be the first narrative response paper taken, and the approach is very different to level 4 questioning.

With small study groups and experienced tutors (who have passed the higher level 7 CWM exams), students receive the technical knowledge and exam practice needed to be confident in the exam room.

What our qualification students say

Don't just take our word for it students have given their reasons why they choose FSTP courses:

"Ian Richardson first helped me when I was working towards the PCIAM 'Private Client Investment Advice and Management' exam in 2013 and then subsequently the 'CWM' papers. During this rather stressful period Ian has always made time for me and somehow managed to explain things in a way I could always comprehend. He is incredibly approachable and is a huge credit to FSTP and of course himself as to the way in which he conducts himself and teaches his pupils. His record of course speaks for itself!"

"These qualifications are time consuming but it is worth it. My advice would be to choose a training provider that works best for you. Ian Richardson at FSTP was outstanding in providing the teaching and support that was required. As a proactive learner the small groups and the interactive nature of Ian's FSTP courses were a huge benefit to me."

"FSTP provided a high quality, professional and flexible consultancy service underpinned by valuable expertise and views of the current financial and regulatory environment."

Study packages

Not all students want a classroom based course, and not all firms offer financial support, so a choice is key to an individual's success.

For those who wish to take advantage of a face to face programme, this is offered as an 8 day RDR compliant study course, covering the syllabus content.

Students can also request 1:1 revision to concentrate on their individual needs and problem areas. Early booking is recommended as tutor availability for 2 hour slots is very limited.

A marked mock exam allows students to complete a 3 hour question paper and return the responses to a tutor for marking. Individual feedback will then be given with recommendations on areas for attention, to focus revision studies.
